INDEX TO VOL. CXCVIII.

ABERCROMBY, SIR RALPH, AN APPRECIATION, 836.

ACHIEVEMENT OF THE SUBMARINE, THE, 827.

ACT, STOKES'S, 488.

ADVOCACY, THE ART OF, 502.

AIRCRAFT IN WAR, REVOLUTIONARY RÔLE OF, 514. Inestimable services rendered in the present war, ib.—utility of the flying machine as an instrument of war, 515—the composition of future aerial fleets, 517—invasion of a country by the air, 519—possibility of aerial craft facilitating nvasion by sea, 520.

ALIEN, THE RESIDENT, 222.

ANIMAL! 671.

ARABISTAN, DESERT AND MARSH IN, 356.

BABYLON, BY THE WATERS OF, 817.

"BABYLON, THE FALL OF," 207.

BOSPHORUS, CONSTANTINOPLE AND THE, 15.

BOYS' BATTLE, THE, 807.

British Government, supineness and indecision of, 689 et seq.—Sir Edward Carson's resignation, 693.

CAMBRAI TO WÜRZBURG, FROM, 411.

CHUMMY-SHIPS, 89.

CITY OF THE PLAIN, A, 650. From the Persian frontier to Bagdad, ib. et seq.—the river and its archaic craft, 653—the bazaars, 654—a heterogeneous population, 655—a review of troops, 657—a visit to Kazimein, 658.

COFFIN SHIP, THE, 315.

CONSTABLE, THE SPECIAL, 342.

CONSTANTINOPLE AND THE BOSPHORUS, 15. City's romantic history, 16—the Bosphorus, 17—Old Constantinople, 18—sieges, 19—old structures, &c., 20—Galata, 21—charm of Constantinople, 22—its fires, 23—native cafés, 25—different races to be seen, 26—foreign colonies, 27 et seq.—its dramatic political scenes and small regard for human life, 31.

"CONTRABAND," 449.

CORN IN EGYPT, 183.

Critics, our Ministers' campaign against, 847.

DARDANELLES EXPLOIT, A, 497.

Democracy, Lord Haldane on, 407—the new democracy, 408.

DESERT AND MARSH IN ARABISTAN, 356.

DESPATCH RIDER, ADVENTURES OF A: THE FIGHTING ROUND LA BASSÉE. I., The Rush to the North, 113—II., Round La Bassée, 117—III., With the 15th Brigade, 121—IV., With the 14th Brigade, 130—V., Simple Pleasures, 134. WINTER QUARTERS. I., From Beuvry to Bailleul, 247—II., The Convent at Locre, 253—III., On Leave, 257—IV., Fighting through the Winter, 262—V., Life at St Jans Cappel, 265—VI., Behind the Lines, 389—VII., Of Professional and Amateur Soldiers, 394—VIII., I become a Gentleman, 396.

DOING HER BIT: AN ACCOUNT OF A CRUISER'S OPERATIONS IN THE CAMEROONS, 717. Departure from Southampton and arrival at Gibraltar, 718—leave Gibraltar and begin search for our quarry, 719—wireless stations erected by the Germans in Togoland and the Cameroons, 721—studying information bearing on the Cameroon colony, 722 et seq.—arrival at Lome, 724—contact with the Nigerian Marine at Lagos, 725 et seq.—deputation landed at Victoria, 729—landing party re-embark under threat of annihilation by German troops, 731—securing the lighters in Victoria, 732—establishing bases, 734 et seq.—creek work, 737 et seq.—assistance from the Cameroon natives, 739—difficulty of navigation of the waterways, 741—examples of kind of work, 747 et seq.—attack on town of Duala, 753—town surrenders, 755—list of the booty, 756.

EGEAN VOYAGE, AN, 231. Beyrout, ib.—a strangely assorted company, 233—scenes of legend, tradition, and history on the coast of Asia Minor, 234 et seq.—the Dardanelles, 243—an Ottoman Shereef, 244 et seq.—Constantinople, 246.

EXPERIENCES IN THE SINGAPORE MUTINY, A LADY'S, 781.

Financial position, Mr Asquith on our, 849—what he sticks at, 850—on Pitt, 851.

FIRST HUNDRED THOUSAND, THE: XIV., The Back of the Front, 1—XV., In the Trenches—an Off-day, 7—XVI., "Dirty Work at the Cross-roads to-night," 151—XVII., The New Warfare, 158—XVIII., The Front of the Front, 283—XIX., The Trivial Round, 433—XX., The Gathering of the Eagles, 696—XXI., The Battle of the Slag-Heaps, 701.

FROM CAMBRAI TO WÜRZBURG, 411. Sufferings endured by wounded British soldiers on the way to Germany, ib.—brutal treatment on a "special hospital train," 412 et seq.—German organisation at railway stations in Belgium, 415—effect of German shell fire in district of Mons, 416—offensive attentions of German soldiers at several stations, 417 et seq.—a sympathetic Red Cross nurse, 420—change into another train at Aachen, 421—miserable accommodation, 422—the internal conditions in Germany, 423 et seq.—sheets containing war news handed to prisoners on the train, 427—brutality towards disfigured Irish soldier, 430—reach Würzburg, 432.

GASPIPE OFFICER, TALES OF A, 795.

GERMANS IN CHINA, 1900, RECOLLECTIONS OF THE, 71.

'Germans in England, the,' notice of, 857.

Germans of 1870, 139—the pillaging of France, 140—"regular robbers," 141—Sir Robert Morier's misgivings, 143—the meditated assault of 1875, 145.

GOD'S HILL, 609.

Government, a disunited, 569—the Ministers' many voices, 571—Lloyd George's note of alarm, 573.

GURIN, NEWS FROM, 298.

Hanseatic League, the, 857.

Harris, Richard, K.C., books on advocacy by, quoted, 504 et seq.

Kaiser's hope of peace, 399—robbing Peter to pay Paul, 400—the German Professors, 401—what a German victory would mean, 403—the burden of a lie, 404—the hypocrisy of "culture," 405.

Lexington Cadets, Story of the. See The Boys' Battle.

MINING AND DEMOLITION IN WAR, 551.

MONEY-DOUBLER, THE, 218.

Murray, Professor, signature of, in favour of British neutrality, 281.

MUSINGS WITHOUT METHOD: July, 139—August, 272—September, 398—October, 564—November, 684—December, 847.

Neutrals, the duty of, 574—a preposterous professor, 575.

Neutral rights, America champions, 854.

OPERATIONS IN THE CAMEROONS, AN ACCOUNT OF A CRUISER'S. See DOING HER BIT.

OUTPOSTS, FROM THE—
The Raiding Wazir, 98.
The Money-Doubler, 218.
The Resident Alien, 222.
News from Gurin, 298.
Muhammad Yusuf, Nasr, invades Afghanistan, 522.
Animal! 671.
By the Waters of Babylon, 817.

Pitt's war speeches, notice of, 149.

Politicians, the garrulity of, 272—Lord Haldane worst offender, 273—indiscretions of Mr Churchill, 275—Joseph Chamberlain "the architect of Empire," 276.

Reading matter for the German soldier, 684 et seq.—facts for the Kaiser, 686—the responsibility of neutral States, 689.

RECOLLECTIONS OF THE GERMANS IN CHINA, 1900, 71. German interest in the Boxer crisis, ib.—part which Germany played in the suppression of the Boxers, 72—restoration of the railway to Peking, 74—German cruelty, 76—trouble between men of the German army and our own, 78 et seq.—attempt to copy kindly relations between English officers and their men, 80—a notable review, 82—Scotsmen in the armies of our enemies, 84—arrogance of the majority of the German army, 87.

RECRUITING IN WAR-TIME, 757. Improvising armies in emergencies, ib.—recurring problems, 758—instances of our unpreparedness, 759 et seq.—unsatisfactory methods of recruiting at end of eighteenth century, 762 et seq.—worst mistake of Pitt and his advisers, 765—the substitute system, 767—summary of our military policy from 1802 to 1805, 770 et seq.—inferences drawn from past experience, 778 et seq.

Revolutionary Rôle of Aircraft in War, 514.

Russia in 1812, situation of, recurring with marvellous exactitude in 1915, 398.

Sea Monster Catching, 196.

Ship, the Coffin, 315.

Siberia in Time of War, through, 187.

Singapore Mutiny, a Lady's Experiences in the, 781.

Sir Ralph Abercromby, an Appreciation, 836.

Special Constable, the, 342.

Stokes's Act, 488.

Story of Submarine E 15. See A Dardanelles Exploit.

Submarine, the Achievement of the, 827.

Tales of a Gaspipe Officer, 795. I., Prologue, ib.—II., Night-life in Paris, 796—III., Night-life beyond Wulverghem, 801.

"The Fall of Babylon," 207.

Thirty-Nine Steps, the: Chaps. I.-IV., 33—VI., VII., 163—VIII.-X., 367.

Thrift, public and private, 277—need for economy, 278—extravagance of the Government, 279.

Through Siberia in Time of War, 187. Liaoyang to Harbin, ib.—across Siberia to Petrograd, 188 et seq.—through Finland to Stockholm, 191 et seq.—arrive at Newcastle-on-Tyne, 195.

Trade Unions and strikes, 694—the enemy within our own borders, 695.

Trade Unions, the, 564—words for deeds, ib.—"profiteers and pseudo-patriots," 565—the gospel of Trade Unionists, 567—faith in the working men of England, 569.

Troops, covering of the transport of, by the Navy. See "Waftage."

Tsar, a Famous, 660. Alexander I. of Russia, ib.—confessions of, to Czartoryski, Polish Prince, 661—accession and murder of his father, the Emperor Paul, 662—coronation of, 663—meets Napoleon at Tilsit, 664—hatred of the English, 665—Napoleon's one object, 667—exasperated at friendship between Sweden and Russia, crosses the Niemen with an army, 668—retreat of the Russians and burning of Moscow, 669—end of Napoleon's hopes of conquest, 670.

Turkish Sketches: I., The Goeben at Constantinople, 472—II., Two Bosphorus Castles, 477—III., A Night with Dervishes, 482.

"Voluntary system," the, 146—the justice of compulsion, 147—system of France only true voluntary system, 148.

Voyage, an Egean, 231.

"Waftage," 541.

War Council, the new, 852.

War, Mining and Demolition in, 551. The mental equipment of a military engineer, ib.—a curious psychological fact, 552—the explosion at Bala Hissar in 1879, and subsequent events, 553 et seq.—military exploits, 557 et seq.

War, through Siberia in time of, 187.

War-Time, Recruiting in, 757.

Wards in War-Time, the: I., Ab initio, 577—II., A Day in the Wards, 581—III., The Royal Visit, 588—IV., Big Wash, 592—V., Visitors, 597—VI., Viney's Stout, 600—VII., The Return of the Prodigal, 604.

Wazir, the Raiding, 98.

Würzburg, 624. Wounded British officer arrives at, and is conveyed to Festung Marienberg, ib. et seq.—warmly welcomed by British and French officers, 628—food, quarters, fellow-prisoners, &c., 629 et seq.—"a walk in the garden," 633—German papers, 635—extracts from diary, expanded and explained, 637 et seq.

Printed by William Blackwood and Sons.